

In order to preserve our democracy it is vital that we keep the communications as open and free as possible. This is part of our constitution and applies today as much as ever, maybe more. Only totalitarian governments allow the media to be concentrated in a few hands mostly their own.....